Will continue to maintain contact with old and new Left contacts for indication of ties with ELLSBERG and continue the program of establishing sources within New Left organizations and interview members of academic organizations in which ELLSBERG has indicated an interest in order to fully cover his activities.

Will continue to conduct investigations concerning [REDACTED]

Will recontact [REDACTED] DANIEL ELLSBERG, to determine if [REDACTED] has any additional information regarding ELLSBERG's overall activities, it being noted that [REDACTED] has previously stated she does not want to report on ELLSBERG's activities on a regular basis.

Will await the return of [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] that she may be interviewed regarding her knowledge of the ELLSBERGS.

ADMINISTRATIVE:

The following analyses pertains to [REDACTED], as an individual who might have assisted ELLSBERG in some manner in connection with making available copies of the McNamara Study to the press. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] They came to notice when cab driver Lexington Cab Company, during interview stated he believed he delivered a male cab passenger, identified by others as NEIL SHEEHAN, to 375A Harvard Street, Cambridge.

It should be noted however, that [REDACTED] is an elderly individual who may be confused in his recollections of his transportation of a male and female passenger from Victor Publishers Incorporated, Bedford, Massachusetts to Cambridge, Massachusetts. This assumption is based on the fact that in his initial interview he did not mention driving this male fare to two places but merely reported he left him at 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, which he described as a modernistic apartment building. That description fits the apartment building at 4 Trowbridge Place because of its extremely modernistic design with concrete facing and ceiling to floor windows. The other buildings on that street are old wooden structures.

[REDACTED] also volunteered that his fare entered an apartment where there was a large wine rack.

Interview of various individuals has developed that MARK's apartment had a large wine rack prominently displayed on one side of the living room containing a large collection of various wines. This would indicate that [REDACTED] was actually talking about MARK's apartment, especially when he mentioned the apartment was on the third floor as is apartment 3D.

At this time, (September 3, 1971) however, [REDACTED] states that he was not in either apartment but left his fare outside in the hallway with his luggage.

In a second interview [REDACTED] was shown the door to MARK's apartment and at that time stated that he definitely could not recall a decal prominently displayed on the outside of the door which warned that the premises were protected by a burglar alarm. Subsequent investigation has reflected that that decal was placed on the door long after the burglar alarm system was installed and, in fact, although records of the Burns Electronic Security Services Incorporated (BESSI), do not reflect exactly the date of installation, the best recollection of the installing employee was that it was probably during the week of March 22 to 29, 1971 when he worked alone as his partner was on vacation. Thus, [REDACTED] could have been confused by the fact that when shown the apartment in July, 1971, the door had the large colored sign on it. This could have been installed after he was at that building on March 22, 1971.

It should also be recalled that [REDACTED] in attempting to locate the second apartment where he stated that he left his male fare, was driven over numerous streets in Cambridge with negative results and it was not until he returned to 4 Trowbridge Place to start the search over that he announced that the building at 375A Harvard Street looked familiar to him. Since 375A Harvard Street is actually across the street from 4 Trowbridge Place and vehicular movement to that building would only involve a U turn (distance of about 50 yards), it is difficult to see how [REDACTED] could think of traveling any distance between the points as he stated.

It should also be noted that although [redacted] was subpoenaed before the Federal Grand Jury at Boston, he was not actually called as a witness since his recollections differed between his earlier interviews.

In addition [redacted] originally made a "look alike" identification of NEIL and SUSAN SHEEHAN as his fares from photographs, however, in a second interview he stated the male passenger resembled published photographs of DANIEL ELLSBERG subsequent to his arrest on June 23, 1971. That identification obviously is incorrect since SHEEHAN was identified by others as the person who entered [redacted]'s cab at Victor Publishers.

Other information developed from interviews of taxi drivers has reflected trip cards to and from 4 Trowbridge Place indicating that that address is actually the one used by SHEEHAN before or after visiting the reproduction companies.

Of particular note also is the fact that even if [redacted] took his fare to 375A Harvard Street he recalled climbing to the second or third floor and definitely passed the ground floor apartment wherein [redacted] reside.

Investigation to date has eliminated residents of 375A Harvard Street as likely associates in reproduction of the "Pentagon Papers" based on their age, background or length of residence with the possible exception of [redacted]

During interview the [redacted] were cordial and stated that although they knew ELLSBERG [redacted] they had not seen him socially or otherwise since moving to Cambridge, Massachusetts, and they were not aware of the existence of the McNamara Study.

As noted previously other witnesses have stated that NEIL SHEEHAN was the male passenger [REDACTED] transported from Victor Publishers to Cambridge, therefore, although he was not identified by [REDACTED] the male passenger's identify is not unknown.

Based on the foregoing the Boston Office feels that [REDACTED] should be eliminated from further consideration as an individual who assisted ELLSBERG in providing the news media, especially the New York Times since he originally came to notice through interview of [REDACTED]

In connection with the large colored decal placed on the door of SPENCER MARX's apartment at 4 Trowbridge Place, it should be noted that thorough interviews of all individuals from BESSI has failed to determine the name of the person who requested that the decal be placed on the door as well as the date on which it was installed.

[REDACTED] who installed that decal stated it was probably put on during the week of March 22 to 29, 1971 since he installed it alone and would normally have been working with another individual except that that individual was on vacation during that period. He also recalled talking with Mrs. LOUIS MARX, mother of SPENCER MARX at the time he installed it and she mentioned that her son was giving up the apartment next door which further indicates the decal was installed in approximately March.

Since the burglar alarm system had been installed in the fall of 1970 and the large decal pertaining to that system was not installed until much later, Boston speculates that this would be further indication that something of particular value, possibly the "McNamara Study" was being stored in that apartment at that time. It is quite possible that BESSI was contacted to have the decal placed on the door to further safeguard the apartment and its contents. As noted above, however, records of BESSI can not determine the date of installation or why the decal was installed at that particular time.

In view of the fact that a vast number of telephone numbers set forth in toll records of the Cambridge Institute and [redacted] were made for further investigation by Departmental Attorney PAUL M. VINCENT, and the importance of the relationship of the subscribers to those numbers to this case has not been established to date, they are not being set forth in this report, but will be reported by separate LHM. Thereafter, pertinent subjects will be selected upon whom investigation will be instituted and the results thereof will be reported.

It is to be noted that [redacted]

[redacted] was located and interviewed at Stamford, Connecticut, [redacted]

The New Haven office is reporting results of that interview.

Bureau airtel 9/16/71 states that it is imperative to successful prosecution of the SHEEHANS to prove that ELLSBERG, in fact, did supply the documents to the SHEEHANS. As noted in this airtel, Boston currently has no witnesses capable of testifying that ELLSBERG passed the McNamara study documents to the SHEEHANS. The forthcoming testimony at the Boston FGJ by NOAM CHOMSKY, SPENCER MARX, K. DUN GIFFORD, and IDELLA MARX has the possibility of providing the above link.

Boston is unaware of intention of USDJ regarding possible Statute proceedings against SUSAN SHEEHAN and her husband CORNELIUS MAHONEY SHEEHAN. Boston feels that the below-listed data is sufficient for successful prosecution of SUSAN SHEEHAN under Section 793(E). (The known activities of involvement of NEIL SHEEHAN are believed to be prosecutively stronger than those of his wife.)

*Not being done and
BS so advised* | The Bureau is requested to obtain Departmental opinion regarding requirements for additional evidence necessary for successful prosecution of the SHEEHANS.

Title: DANIEL ELLSBERG

Character: ESPIONAGE - X

Synopsis:

[Large rectangular area of the document has been heavily redacted with black ink.]

[REDACTED], explained individual using name NEIL SHEEHAN received Western Union (WU) money order from N. Y. Times on 3/23/71 for $600, receiving $100 in cash and a $500 WU money order.

[REDACTED], WU Cambridge, Mass., identified same $500 money order as being identical with one cashed for individual using name NEIL SHEEHAN who identified himself by use of White House press card. Records Avis Rent A Car, reflect SHEEHAN rented a car on 3/16/71 at Bradley International Airport and turned it in at Logan Airport, Boston on 3/13/71. Copy of rental contract number 17213695 furnished. Reinterview of cab driver [redacted] reflects he could not recall being present in apartment of SPENCER MARX, 3D, 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, Mass. Attempts to identify purchaser of Ingenco paper cutter Model 1151 or Model 5½ abandoned in MARX apartment negative. Investigation of reproduction centers in Cambridge, Mass., to determine additional locations of reproduction centers used in reproduction of copies of Mc Namara Study failed to reflect large orders for reproduced material by any principals. Three individuals who contracted for large reproduction orders interviewed and provided legitimate purposes for copy work.

[redacted] declined to be interviewed on 10/5/71 on anything related to the "Pentagon Papers". [redacted] advised he was contacted by representative of the St. Louis Post Dispatch (SLPD) in 6/71 to determine if he had knowledge of availability of copies of the "Pentagon Papers" which could be obtained by SLPD.

[redacted]

Copy of ELLSBERG's Doctoral Dissertation, "Risk, Ambiguity and Decision," (1963) located in Weidner Library, Harvard University, not publically available.

Information Pertaining to
CORNELIUS MAHONEY SHEEHAN

Born Nov 27-1936
Mr [redacted] neil X sheehan

Cambridge, Massachusetts, show that CORNELIUS MAHONEY SHEEHAN, son of CORNELIUS JOSEPH and MARY T. (SHEA) SHEEHAN, was a student at Harvard College from 1954 to 1958. He graduated in 1958 and was the recipient of a Bachelor of Arts Degree. His current occupation is listed as reporter for New York Times, with residence at 4505 Kingle Street, Northwest, Washington, D.C. His wife is SUSAN MARGULIES, and they were married on March 30, 1965. His references were listed as follows:

[REDACTED] Western Union Office, 230 Congress Street, Boston, Massachusetts advised on September 17, 1971 after examining a telegraphic money order payable to NEIL SHEEHAN dated March 23, 1971 for $100, that this money order was cashed by SHEEHAN on the same day. [REDACTED] explained that when SHEEHAN arrived at 230 Congress Street to obtain $600, [REDACTED], Night Clerk, had only $150 in cash available. SHEEHAN asked for at least $100, and [REDACTED] gave him telegraphic money order SB 94298 for $100 which SHEEHAN endorsed and cashed. At this time he was given a $500 telegraphic money order SB 94297 which was cashed at the Western Union Office in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

[REDACTED], Avis Rent a Car, Executive and Accounting Office, 209 Columbus Avenue, furnished a carbon copy of a rental agreement number 17213695 signed by NEIL SHEEHAN dated March 16, 1971. A review of this copy disclosed the following information:

An individual identifying himself as NEIL SHEEHAN representing the New York Times, with address of 4505 Kingle Street, Northwest, Washington, D.C. rented an Avis car at Bradley International Airport, Post Office Box 249, Windsor Locks, Connecticut at 5:31 p.m. on March 16, 1971, indicating ultimate destination of New York City and due time as March 19, 1971.

According to [REDACTED], however, this rental was turned in at Logan Airport, Boston at 7:16 p.m. on March 18, 1971. The copy was marked paid and the transaction amounting to $71.66 was paid for in cash.

[REDACTED] finally stated that the original copy is located at the Avis office at Bradley Airport, Windsor Locks, Connecticut.

A copy of this rental agreement is attached.

III. INVESTIGATION AT 4 TROWBRIDGE PLACE, CAMBRIDGE, THE APARTMENT OF SPENCER BEDELL MARK

[redacted] cab driver, Lexington Cab Company, Lexington, Massachusetts, was re-interviewed and shown the interior of the vacated apartment of SPENCER MARX, apartment 3D, 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, Massachusetts. After being inside the apartment of SPENCER MARX, [redacted] stated that he can not now recall ever being in that apartment or the hallway leading to that apartment.

At this time [redacted] restated that he recalls that early in the morning hours of March 22, 1971, he picked up a male and female passenger at Victor Publishers Incorporated, Bedford, Massachusetts, and dropped the female passenger at the Hotel Continental in Cambridge. He then took the remaining male passenger to 4 Trowbridge Place. The male passenger then entered this apartment carrying a small attache type case and after approximately 10 minutes, this passenger emerged from this address with the attache case and [redacted] upon instructions, took this passenger to an address which he believes to be 375A Harvard Street, Cambridge.

This latter address is approximately 50 yards from the address at 4 Trowbridge Place. [redacted] recalled that he helped the passenger carry 2 or 3 pieces of luggage up 2 or 3 flights of stairs at that address with [redacted] carrying one large heavy piece. [redacted] was certain that he did not stop at a first floor apartment at that address but carried the luggage to an upper floor with the male passenger and left the male passenger in the hallway. [redacted] recalls that he climbed 2 or 3 flights of stairs with the luggage because the luggage was heavy and he was tired from the exertion.

While in the vacated apartment of SPENCER MARX, apartment 3D, 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, the interviewing agents noticed a large paper cutter on the floor of the apartment, apparently abandoned.

[REDACTED], MacDavis Realty Company, Harvard Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, was contacted by Special Agents [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] for the purpose of obtaining permission to view the premises of the vacated apartment of SPENCER MARK, apartment 3D, 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

[REDACTED] advised that this realty company manages the apartment building at 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, Massachusetts, and she gave permission to agents HANSEN and KIRBY to view the former apartment of SPENCER MARK.

After an inspection of the apartment 3D, 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, Massachusetts, and having noticed a large paper cutter apparently abandoned at this apartment, the agents returned to the office of Mac Davis Realty Company and obtained permission to take the paper cutter for evidentiary purposes to the office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), Boston. [REDACTED] advised that she considers the paper cutter to be abandoned property of SPENCER MARK since his lease terminated on August 31, 1971 following which an investigation of this apartment was made by Mac Davis Realty Company, and the paper cutter along with three other chairs were left behind. A receipt for the paper cutter was given to [REDACTED] by Special Agent [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] further stated that a review of his records for period January, 1971, to present, reflect that only 7 Ingento Paper cutters model 1151 also known as Model 5½, were distributed to retailers in the Boston area, however, none had been supplied to any Cambridge retailers.

[REDACTED] stated that it is possible that any of the above-cited retailers might have purchased this model from competitors of Federal Wholesale, or that a stock backlog might exist concerning this item, from which a retail purchase could be made.

Allen's Stationery Company
2150 Massachusetts Avenue

Commercial Supply Company
42 Brookline Street

University Stationery
311 Massachusetts Avenue

The records of all of the above were reviewed for period January, 1971, through present regarding orders for an Ingento Paper cutter model number 1151 with negative results.

[redacted] further advised that two likely retailers which might carry the Ingento paper cutter would be Harvard Coop and the stationery store at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He added the Federal Wholesalers, Industrial Parkway Braintree, Massachusetts, supplied the Harvard Coop.

Finally [redacted] stated that Wards, Inc., a former Boston paper products wholesaler, went out of business approximately 2 years ago.

On September 3, 1971, Special Agents [REDACTED] contacted five copying services in the Harvard area of Cambridge and reviewed their records of sales for June 24, 1971, in an effort to determine if any names of interest had performed large copying job orders. The records of the following copying centers were reviewed with negative results:

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent [redacted] on August 24, 1971:

A check of indices at Weidner Library, Harvard College, Cambridge, Massachusetts, revealed on file two copies of ELLSBERG's Doctoral Dissertation "Risk, Ambiguity and Decision" (1963).

Personnel, Archives Room, Weidner Library, advised that degree candidates in the John F. Kennedy School of Government are required to submit two dissertation copies to the Weidner Archives, and that for security reasons, no copies are retained in the Littauer Library of the John F. Kennedy School of Government; also, that to obtain a thesis over one year old, a full application must be made, with identification, including the reason for its use, in order to protect author's copyrights.

Personnel, Littauer Library, confirmed the preceding and further advised that in addition to the candidate's own copy, the candidate's major professor usually requests a copy,

Personnel, Weidner Library Reference Service, advised that to protect security of copyrights, Harvard University does not contribute its doctoral dissertation for microfilming or xeroxing to University Microfilms, also known as Dissertation Abstracts in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Records of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Bureau of Vital Statistics, Boston, Massachusetts, volume 43, page 494, register 150, shows that DANIEL ELLSBERG, age 19, 110 East Hancock Street, Detroit, Michigan, a student born in Chicago, Illinois and CAROL CUMMINGS, age 19, 2856 Ninth Street, Boulder, Colorado, a student born in Washington, D.C., were married at Christ Church, Cambridge on February 10, 1951. The marriage was performed by FREDERIC B. KELLOGG, Clergyman, 24 Farwell Place, Cambridge. This record shows this marriage as being the first for both parties. The groom is listed as being the son of HARRY ELLSBERG and ADELE CHARSKY, and the bride as the daughter of GALE T. CUMMINGS and MARY BOYD.

Above record fails to list witnesses to this marriage.

On October 5, 1971, a recheck of the Office of the Massachusetts Commissioner of Probation, Suffolk County Courthouse, Boston, Massachusetts, a central repository for all traffic and criminal conviction records within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, showed that DANIEL ELLSBERG, born April 7, 1931, town and parents not listed, a resident of 1053 Concord Avenue, Belmont, Massachusetts, paid a $5.00 fine on May 23, 1958 in Cambridge Court for "no inspection sticker".

A recheck of the records of the Cambridge Police Department on October 7, 1971, failed to contain any record of the above violation and failed to contain any information regarding DANIEL ELLSBERG.

ROBERT V. PACE, Victor Publishers, Inc., 200 Great Road, Bedford, was observed while he made one copy each of fifty-six documents on a Savin 230 Machine, Serial Number 20098. The meter reading at the completion was 555; however, PACE stated that this reading is not to be trusted since he has found it to be inaccurate in the past. He said that he only occasionally utilizes this Savin Machine and that it is possible that this machine will be returned to the Savin Business Machine Corporation at any time.

PACE assured that this Savin Machine is the Savin Machine utilized by Mrs. SHEEHAN and her husband during their reproduction sessions at his firm in March, 1971.

, advised that he has no real acquaintance with DANIEL ELLSBERG, but he has encountered him professionally on about six occasions dating from 1963. He said he first heard ELLSBERG discuss Vietnam policy in 1967 when ELLSBERG was the guest lecturer at the Harvard National Security Policy Seminar, organized and hosted by Professor HENRY KISSINGER, now the Special Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. At this meeting [redacted] recalled ELLSBERG, who had just recently returned from a tour of Vietnam, gave a pessimistic assessment of the United States' progress in Vietnam.

The next encounter was at the meeting of the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) held at New York City on November 17, 1970 at which ELLSBERG was the principal speaker and invitee of the Chairman of the meeting, Dr. ROBERT OSGOOD of Johns Hopkins University. [REDACTED] recalled ELLSBERG's theme as "Coercive Diplomacy", in which the crux of his remarks related to Operation Rolling Thunder as an example of the use of force for political purposes. [REDACTED] commented that ELLSBERG's remarks were obviously excerpted from the highly classified McNamara Study, the existence of which was known to the meeting's participants, many of whom held top secret clearances and had themselves assisted in the McNamara Study. [REDACTED] stated ELLSBERG's lecture, "Coercive Diplomacy", has been published as CFR Background Paper Number 3, dated November 17, 1970 for the confidential use of CFR members.

In this paper, ELLSBERG was said to have cited United States intelligence failures in both Vietnam and other areas. He allegedly emphasized the Cuban Missile Crisis of 1962 as a glaring example of a gross underestimate by United States intelligence of the number of operable missiles in Cuba. ELLSBERG claimed that in about 1963 he made a study of the Cuban Missile Crisis, the results of which, he alleged, he presented to former Presidential advisor WALT W. ROSTOW and other high level government officials at a meeting of the "Thursday Luncheon Group", described by [redacted] as a weekly meeting of foreign policy officials.

[redacted] related that he also observed ELLSBERG in attendance at CFR meetings held on December 16, 1970 and January 26, 1971. He recalled that at one of these meetings, ELLSBERG's assertions and conclusions were challenged by WILLIAM P. BUNDY, an Assistant Secretary of State during the JOHNSON Administration. He stated that at these latter meetings, ELLSBERG did not appear as a speaker or otherwise participate actively.

By separate LHM's, the Boston Office is furnishing the complete text of speeches by DANIEL ELLSBERG at a three-day seminar sponsored by the Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW) at Faneuil Hall, Boston, Mass., on 10/7/71; a speech given by ELLSBERG at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Kresge Auditorium entitled, "Lying for the State," on 10/13/71; and a speech given by ELLSBERG on the occasion of a Laos Teach-In, also at MIT Kresge Auditorium, on 3/12/71.

By separate LHM, the Boston Office is furnishing the identity of recipients of telephone calls in the Boston Office which were made from the telephones listed to the Cambridge Institute (CI), 1878 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass., and [REDACTED]

All of those telephone numbers were obtained through issuance of a subpoena duces tecum at Boston, Mass.

Extra copies of this report are being provided Los Angeles for dissemination to either United States or Departmental Attorneys.

Information copies of this report are being furnished New York and WFO in view of their mutual investigative interest in this matter.

Information pertaining to telephone calls made by [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] is being set forth in this report in order to indicate the possible connection between [REDACTED] and ELLSBERG, which includes the visit to ELLSBERG's residence by [REDACTED] as reported [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] It is possible that [REDACTED] called ELLSBERG from the Sheraton-Commander Hotel in connection with an interview of ELLSBERG during that period (7/20-23/71) since his reservation at Cambridge had been arranged in advance on 7/16/71.

It is noted that, among telephone numbers charged to personnel of "The New York Times," who resided in the New York Hilton Hotel during the period, 4/22/71 through 7/6/71, there were four calls listed to telephone number [REDACTED] listed to [REDACTED] Mass. In interview, [REDACTED] denied any knowledge of such calls to him or his wife. Review of his age and employment indicates he would not be a logical contact for "The New York Times" personnel.

It was further noted that three calls were made to telephone number [REDACTED] listed to [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] of "The New York Times" staff, and eight calls were made to telephone number [REDACTED] the residence telephone number of [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] The four calls to telephone number [REDACTED] were listed in chronological order in the middle of the calls to telephone number [REDACTED]

It is therefore felt that the telephone calls listed to telephone number [REDACTED] listed to [REDACTED] were based on clerical error which combined the above numbers, using the exchange of one number, [REDACTED] and the basic number of the other, [REDACTED] since [REDACTED] has advised he had no knowledge of such calls.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

[REDACTED] during the period of 1965 and 1966, ELLSBERG was an ardent "hawk", however, by 1968, ELLSBERG was highly disillusioned about the war, mostly on policy grounds rather than moral grounds. [REDACTED] stated ELLSBERG did not discuss any changing psychology on the war, but merely expressed disappointment that policy was not working, discussing the wording of certain cables and whether different wording would have made any difference. [REDACTED] stated he had no reason to suspect ELLSBERG during this period or ever afterwards, and he did not believe ELLSBERG would have turned over the classified papers to the press during that period.

[REDACTED] he has seen ELLSBERG only twice since 1968, each time during the course of a trip to the Rand Corporation in California. He believed the last encounter was during the winter of 1970 and the prior occasion was about a year before that. Each occasion involved a visit of only a couple of hours. [REDACTED] recalled that the latter occasion was about the time of the arrest of Vietnamese Deputy TRAN NGOC CHAU and ELLSBERG was highly upset over the incident. ELLSBERG stated CHAU's was a "trumped up political charge", since he knew CHAU was cooperating fully with the U. S. Government. [REDACTED] could not recall the date of this incident but stated he has neither seen nor heard from ELLSBERG since that time and he has not been contacted by ELLSBERG or on behalf of him since then.

[REDACTED] ELLSBERG, by virtue of his experience, was highly schooled in the importance of security and it seemed incongruous that ELLSBERG would turn over such highly classified documents to unauthorized persons.

[REDACTED] continued that when he heard the Pentagon Papers had been "leaked", it never occurred to him that ELLSBERG was the guilty party stating that he did not even know the Rand Corporation had a copy of the papers. He stated that ELLSBERG never mentioned the "Pentagon Papers", having access to same, or copying same. [REDACTED] never met any of ELLSBERG's family and the only ELLSBERG associates he knew were back in the 1962-1963 time frame. [REDACTED] could furnish no information as to any change in ELLSBERG's attitude or feelings which would have led him to release the papers.

According to [REDACTED] desired to add to an answer he supplied during the interview. [REDACTED] had answered in the negative to the question whether he had been contacted by DANIEL ELLSBERG or on behalf of him. He stated that after reflection, he recalled that sometime during 1969, shortly after some members of the Rand Corporation had released a letter to the press, he received a telephone call from ELLSBERG. ELLSBERG inquired as to whether [REDACTED] was interested in signing a similar letter to be released. [REDACTED] stated he informed ELLSBERG he was not interested and knew of no one else who would be interested, and that ELLSBERG made no effort to persuade him to change his mind.

Hoover's Plan for Elections

Seek Fair Viet Vote

By Murray Marder

Washington Post Staff Writer

U.S. policy in South Vietnam is so heavily committed to Saigon's present leaders that "fair elections" are impossible unless the United States demonstrates it wants them, it was charged yesterday.

A campaign to require genuine U.S. "neutrality" in South Vietnam's assembly election in August, and the presidential election in October, has been launched by a group of young former American advisers in Vietnam.

All were Vietnamese-speaking specialists committed to work for "self-determination" of the Vietnamese people and "an honorable peace." They left U.S. government service disillusioned about the prospects of achieving either goal under current American policy.

Under the existing policy of overt and covert U.S. support for the government of President Thieu, said T. Eugene Jacquey, the government returned to power in a South Vietnamese election "will be determined to seek a military solution of the war—against the overwhelming desire of the Vietnamese people."

"The South Vietnamese people," he said, "believe that the coming elections will be a fraud, and that a considerable reason for that fraud will be American support for a military government."

"We don't think they (the South Vietnamese people) by any means favor the National Liberation Front, but they favor peace in an open and honest election."

Jacquey, who is 27, is coordinator of a group formed here last month, called the Vietnam Elections Project. He served in Vietnam during 1969 and 1970 as a community development and political officer for the Agency for International Development (AID), assigned to Civil Operations and Rural Development (CORDS). Jacquey resigned from AID last February, after the Laos incursion.

Another leader in the Vietnam Elections Project is Oliver Davidson, 22, who held a post similar to Jacquey's in South Vietnam from 1966 to 1970, and left AID the latter year.

A third, Dickard Winslow, 26, a former Peace Corps worker in Peru, worked for CORDS in Vietnam in 1969 and 1970.

Donald Pollock, 27, a fourth leader of the project, was in Vietnam the same years and accompanied U.S. troops who penetrated Cambodia last year, where he is credited with leading many Cambodians to safety through the Laos border.

By themselves, or even with their views, these young men would have insignificant weight to influence U.S. policy. That is why they say they abandoned attempts to shift U.S. policy from "the inside," and organized to arouse public and congressional action.

Many of their goals are contained in a Senate resolution by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III (D-Ill.), co-sponsored by Sens. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), Daniel K. Inouye (D-Hawaii), Edmund S. Muskie (D-Maine), George McGovern (D-S.D.), Harold E. Hughes (D-La.), Alan Cranston (D-Calif.), Mike Gravel (D-Alaska), Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

A somewhat similar resolution in the House, to assure "freedom of choice" in South Vietnam's elections, with Rep. Lester L. Wolff (D-N.Y.) as principal sponsor, also has several Republican backers.

The Senate resolution would send a 10-member commission to South Vietnam, accompanied by a staff of Vietnamese-speaking personnel, to observe the elections and assure that the United States "maintains strict neutrality" in it. Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott (Pa.) immediately challenged the resolution when it was introduced April 5, on grounds that it would be interpreted either as "a cover move to undermine the (Saigon) government, or maintain it," according to the composition of the U.S. delegation.

Members of the Vietnam Elections Project maintain, however, that the United States is inextricably involved in the election process in any event—already heavily influencing it.

Winslow has said he was informed by friends still in South Vietnam that President Thieu last November asked Ambassador William Colby, U.S. CORDS director in South Vietnam, to survey popular attitudes about the presidential election so Thieu "would know where his strong points were" and could shape his actions to enhance his election.

A U.S. survey reportedly was carried out in South Vietnam in November, 1970, which solicited views about prospective presidential candidates and key issues. A CORDS spokesman later denied that any questions were selected by Thieu or the South Vietnamese government. But questions were asked, the spokesman acknowledged, to give the U.S. mission indications of public attitudes on "an important upcoming event which could have an impact on the participation and development program..."

Colby is scheduled to testify

Wednesday before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee headed by Kennedy.

Davidson said yesterday that attempts to report to U.S. mission chiefs widespread support for "peace" candidates were "laughed at in Saigon." Superiors, he said, would respond that "you are quite isolated and don't understand the overall problem." Said Winslow: "Whatever reports I made would be passed to Ambassador (Ellsworth) Bunker's garbage pail."

All the Vietnam Elections Project members said that there is no danger whatever that the National Liberation Front, which is referred to as the Vietcong, "could ever win an open and fair election."

"There are three reasons why the front has any support," said Davidson. In order of importance, he said, they are: fighting the foreign Americans—and a military and corrupt government; and least, a small minority favors them because they are fighting for Communists."

"If the American soldiers were out of Vietnam and Vietnam had a quasi-civilian or a true civilian government, the Vietcong would lose their two main rallying points," he said.

Now, said Jacquey, "The United States is solving its Vietnam problem by withdrawal. The Vietnamese, however, do not see American withdrawal alone as the solution to their Vietnam problem." The government, now most likely to remain in power, he said, will fight on to seek a military solution, contrary to the views of most Vietnamese, who feel that a compromise settlement is the only way to end the war quickly."

Letters To The Editor

"The Vietnamese Could Settle Their War at the Ballot Box"

The "profound contradiction" that The Washington Post observes (editorial, "American Interest in Re-Electing President Thieu," April 23) between "Vietnamization" of the war and self-determination for the Vietnamese is precisely the reason the Vietnam Elections Project supports the resolution proposed by Senator Stevenson requiring the United States to cease support for the election efforts of any South Vietnamese political faction, and establishing a Congressional Commission to monitor U.S. involvement in the Vietnamese elections. Supporters of the Stevenson resolution—Senators Mansfield, McGovern, Hughes, Church, Kennedy, and Muskie, all leading spokesmen for rapid withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam—realize that withdrawal alone will not end this war.

Peace could come if the U.S. lets the Vietnamese people settle their war. Few Vietnamese believe that peace is possible without a government dedicated to seeking a compromise political arrangement. Popular election of Vietnamese leaders who reflect the overwhelming desire of the Vietnamese people for peace could bring this war to a rapid conclusion. Relatively fair elections could happen in Vietnam; in last year's Vietnamese Senatorial election a "peace" slate came in first.

Senators Stevenson and Church are urging public notice of some of the specifics of U.S. involvement in the Vietnamese election. For example, Stevenson has publicized a New York Times report (Feb. 2, 1971): "National surveys of Vietnamese public opinion . . . prepared and analyzed by the U.S. Mission . . . are being used to assist President Thieu in his re-election efforts . . ." Senator Church has investigated how the U.S. Information Agency-JUSPAO operation in Vietnam is "now engaged in a massive campaign," to sell the Thieu government to the Vietnamese electorate.

In April, 1971, both The Post and the Times reported the enormous investment of U.S. funds and advisory support in the South Vietnamese government's police apparatus—which is frequently used for the arrest and detention of the South Vietnamese non-Communist opposition. U.S. expenditures for the National Police alone have increased 25 per cent over 1970 to provide $27.3 million for 1971—a figure which excludes the special police assistance funded by the CIA. Yet Vietnamese are convinced that Vietnam's prisons hold more non-Communist nationalist opponents of the regime than affiliates of the Communist National Liberation Front.

Official U.S. statements of exaggerated praise for Vietnam's military leaders—such as President Johnson's inflated praise of Nguyen Cao Ky at Honolulu in 1966 and President Nixon's statement that Nguyen Van Thieu was "one of the five or six greatest statesmen in the world today"—are bitterly resented by many Vietnamese as evidence of U.S. political support for the Thieu government and its repression of opposition. Most Vietnamese feel powerless to arrest their government. In Vietnam, newspapers are regularly closed down by the government. Non-Communist political associations are refused permission to organize. Non-Communist political leaders who oppose the current regime or propose a compromise peace are jailed, put in house confinement, or exiled.

the White House-appointed Commission which "observed" the 1967 Vietnamese election "gave the performance a clean bill of health," although most Vietnamese and many informed Americans believe the 1967 election was fundamentally fraudulent. It is precisely a repetition of this "performance" that the Stevenson resolution seeks to prevent. The 1967 commission of 22 dignitaries, who spoke no Vietnamese and were not supported by a Vietnamese-speaking staff, spent four days in Vietnam, seeing what the Vietnamese government and the Embassy-MACV good news factory chose to show them. The commission's report was heavily influenced by commission chairman and former U.S. Ambassador to Vietnam Henry Cabot Lodge, who described the elections as "wholesome." And President Thieu has invited new U.S. "observers" in 1971.

Certainly Senator Stevenson's proposal has dangers—the wrong commission members and staff could legitimize a fraudulent election. For this reason, Senator Stevenson takes care to state that "nothing" in his resolution "shall be construed as creating any commitment of military assistance" no matter what government is elected in October.

Important differences exist between the 1967 commission and Stevenson's. Concealing electoral fraud from the Stevenson Commission would be difficult. The Stevenson Commission would be composed of senators and representatives and would not be subject to White House control. It would employ a staff of Vietnamese-speaking specialists with knowledge and experience in reporting Vietnamese political affairs. Its staff would be in Vietnam months before the election, and would report to Congress regularly. If this commission performs well, it could accomplish four things:

1. The presence of the commission staff in Vietnam would affirm to the Vietnamese the American desire for free elections stated in the Stevenson resolution, and it could encourage political participation of Vietnamese who seek a compromise peace. Many such politicians are now reluctant to risk political action because they believe that U.S. support makes the re-election of the military regime a foregone conclusion.

2. The commission could monitor the activities of the official American community in Saigon and their possible involvement in the election campaign. The commission's ability to reveal possible U.S. support for a candidate or interest in the elections makes extensive U.S. involvement less likely.

3. The commission staff, and international attention to the Vietnamese electoral process, can thus reduce undetected electoral machinations. It cannot end irregularities altogether, but it can deter blatant disregard of basic rights of opposition candidates.

4. Finally, as Senator Stevenson notes, "by lessening the advantage which even the appearance of U.S. support gives to the existing regime, this resolution may encourage the present government of Vietnam to heed the desire of the people for peace and reconciliation. It could create the climate in which a negotiated settlement is possible, and in which all American forces could be withdrawn more quickly than might otherwise be possible."

What will the United States leave in Vietnam? A military dictatorship; fraudulent elections; an election campaign where opposition leaders cannot organize and speak and print their views openly — is this the objective for which so many Americans and Vietnamese have been killed and maimed?

If the U.S. refused to make resources available to the government of South Vietnam which could be diverted to the Thieu government's political campaign, imposing an undesired military government and an unwanted war on the Vietnamese people would be made difficult. If the U.S. actively opposed the subversion of the elections and made its position known in Vietnam, Vietnamese majority sentiments could not be successfully suppressed.

The Vietnam Elections Project urges The Washington Post to support the Stevenson resolution. Speedy passage is essential if Congress is to place the commission staff in Vietnam in time to do its job. This proposal could extricate the U.S. from Vietnam quagmire and leave behind the hope of something decent and honorable.

THEODORE JACQUENEY,
Coordinator, Vietnam Elections Project.

Re WFO airtel, 11/5/71, and Bureau airtel, 11/10/71.

Referenced WFO airtel describes itself as being an effort to ascertain sequence of events related to the unauthorized disclosure of the McNamara Study. The following is set forth pertaining to this sequence and to the connection between ELLSBERG and IPS.

As recipients are aware, ELLSBERG is the self-admitted leak of the 47 volume Pentagon Study (press conference, 8/5/71).

[REDACTED], advised that ELLSBERG presented him with a hypothetical question regarding the consequences of releasing the McNamara Study papers to the public. ELLSBERG claimed to have already checked this out with certain lawyers. In connection with this a review of telephone toll charges made against ELLSBERG's phone bill show numerous phone calls to ACLU attorneys in New York City area.

In a press conference connected with his surrender on June 28, 1971, ELLSBERG said that he was solely responsible for the decision to give the Pentagon Papers information to the newspapers and that he took this action on his own initiative.

At a 7/1/71 press conference ELLSBERG stated that he and newspapers felt responsible for the decision to bring the information to the public and that he felt he was the source of all documents given to the newspapers.

ELLSBERG also admits receiving assistance from others in thwarting the government by providing reproduced Pentagon Papers material to other publications after New York Times injunction on 6/15/71.

Boston feels that after his reproduction sessions in California in 10/69 ELLSBERG maintained a full set of material reproduced and in turn xeroxed portions thereof for his dissemination to selected U.S. Senators, congressional committees and newspapers. This of course appears to be a common sense dictate and ELLSBERG himself identified the purpose of the 10/69 reproduction as being on behalf of members of the Congress.

At a recent speech at Harvard University, ELLSBERG commented regarding the mechanics of reproducing the Pentagon Papers, to the effect that he went to another city where he has not been indicted to a duplicating establishment and was told that the rate was 10¢ per copy. He posed questions regarding the price for bulk reproductions, that is of approximately 7,000 pages and was informed that the price was 9¢ per copy. He then came to Cambridge where he observed the advertisement of 3-2-1 rates (a reference to discount for large reproduction jobs with multiple copies at reduced rates). ELLSBERG stated that even at the old rate of 9¢ per copy he could assure that the Boston Globe (BG) would not have obtained their copy.

It is recalled that the BG was offered and received the Pentagon Papers on 6/21/71.

It, of course, could have been deemed to the advantage of ELLSBERG particularly as a legal defense tactic to have wide dissemination and publication in a large number of organs in order to minimize ELLSBERG's act of providing these documents to the New York Times.

[REDACTED] could have been involved in the offers to the Washington representatives of news media and to local publishers, EG, and Christian Science Monitor.

According to [redacted] Washington Bureau, received a long distance call from Boston or Cambridge pertaining to the availability of the Pentagon Papers. In addition the toll calls of the above telephone showed that 12 telephone calls were made and charged to the phone of the PD from or to 9 public pay phones in Cambridge on 6/24/71. A Boston agent checking on the location of these public pay phones concluded that the turnover of the McNamara Study to the PD involved an extensive physical surveillance with "dry cleaning" attempts. [redacted] of the PD was in Cambridge on 6/24/71.

[redacted] had informed that [redacted] dispatched to Boston/Cambridge area to make pick up of Pentagon Papers material.

Referenced WFO airtel speculates that ELLSBERG while visiting Washington, D.C. in early 3/71 mentioned the availability of the Gelb Study to NEIL SHEEHAN and arranged to obtain a portion of it from IPS to provide to SHEEHAN. Also that ELLSBERG on 3/30/71 probably obtained remainder of study from IPS for SHEEHAN to xerox in early 4/71.

Investigation by Boston has revealed that SHEEHAN utilizing a fictitious name, was in Cambridge 3/16-18; 3/20-23 and 4/7-8/71. The known reproduction sessions by SHEEHAN and his wife (also in Cambridge under a fictitious name) occurred during the period 3/20-23/71.

The above speculated arrangement to the effect that ELLSBERG obtained from IPS and furnished to SHEEHAN portions of the Gelb Study does not appear logical. If material is in Washington, D.C. SHEEHAN resides in Washington, D.C. and ELLSBERG is visiting in Washington, D.C., the reproductions would appear to logically occur in Washington, D.C. area. IPS has the availability of reproduction machines and security dictates that the reproductions on behalf of the New York Times would occur within the IPS shop.

Page 5 of referenced WFO airtel states that information set out indicates that [REDACTED] served as "courier" of the Pentagon Papers. The Senator GRAVEL copy of the Pentagon Papers was furnished to Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Press on 7/23/71 by [REDACTED] acting as courier of the Pentagon Papers to the MIT Press.

[REDACTED], claims GRAVEL received the papers on 6/24/71. Of course, [REDACTED] was the courier of the material delivered to the MIT Press on 7/23/71 but the question, unanswered to date, is who provided these papers to GRAVEL at an earlier date possibly on 6/24/71 or at least by 6/29/71 when GRAVEL read portions of the McNamara Study into the congressional record.

The above activity of [REDACTED] is not connected with the activities of [REDACTED] that is the telephone call of 6/23/71 and the possible subsequent activities of [REDACTED]

It is noted that [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] was in Cambridge at Hotel Continental at same time SUSAN SHEEHAN was at this establishment 3/21-23/71.

No information developed involving [REDACTED] with the SHEEHANS in reproduction sessions which occurred during the above period.

In the event the Bureau ever obtains any significant portion of the reproduced Pentagon Papers (from news media or Congressman), Boston feels that these will contain handwritten notations. This was stated by attorney for BG in their argument in Court pertaining to injunctions against the BG. The government was prevented from examining the impounded 1300 documents after arguments presented in Court by attorneys for BG. These notations could be in the handwriting of ELLSBERG or in the event WFO speculation is accurate, possibly in the handwriting of individuals at IPS.

It is the opinion of the Boston Division that the identity of the channel of transmission of Pentagon Papers to IPS is not necessarily identical to the conduit to news media. The speculation set forth in referenced WFO airtel is plausible. However, even if the DOD Bibliographic Research Team verifies that the book WPAW drew upon the Pentagon papers no valid conclusion can be made regarding the identify of the individual (s) making the disclosure to the news media.

No evidence has been developed to date linking the conduit of source material to IPS for their use in WPAW and the conduit of source material for news media disclosure.

In the event the leak to IPS is ascertained this case is still faced with ascertaining the identity of the leak to news media other than the New York Times (Boston feels that case against SHEEHANS is currently sufficiently developed for successful prosecution). As noted above, [REDACTED] played a role in this (dissemination to news media other than the New York Times) with the phone call to PD on 6/23/71 at a time when government had legal proceedings prohibiting continued publication by New York Times, Washington Post and BG.

It is further observed that due to apparent poor security charge-out system at Rand any material at this facility or its branches could have come into ELLSBERG's hands. No examination limitations should be made to material actually charged-out to ELLSBERG or his close associates.

WFO and Los Angeles are requested to provide Boston with analysis of Rand employees (current and past) associated in any fashion with IPS. Boston submitting under separate communication its views on new investigative avenues which could logically be pursued in this matter.

For information of New York the following is set forth:

When interviewed on 11/22/71, Dr. Leslie H. Gelb, former Director, Vietnam Task Force Study Group, Department of Defense (DOD), advised that approximately one week prior to 6/13/71, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] telephoned Gelb and told him that "The New York Times" was about to publish articles concerning the Vietnam Task Force Study (VTFS). According to Gelb, [REDACTED] did not know what the articles would consist of nor did he know what information the paper had concerning the VTFS.

[REDACTED] Following [REDACTED] call, Dr. Gelb advised former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Paul Warnke, former DOD official, that "The New York Times" was preparing articles concerning the VTFS.

Dr. Gelb advised further that he had received a second telephone call from [REDACTED] told Gelb that [REDACTED] a reporter for "The New York

"Times" had told him he wished to talk to Gelb concerning the VTFS but that he hesitated to approach Gelb for fear of embarrassing him. [redacted] asked Gelb whether he would talk to [redacted]. At this time it was not clear to Gelb that the paper did have information concerning the VTFS and consequently he told [redacted] he would have to think about it for a while.

Dr. Gelb further advised he later telephoned [redacted] and said he would talk with [redacted] but first he wished that [redacted] would give a message to [redacted]. According to Gelb, the message was that if the paper did publish a story on the VTFS, the paper should first accept the fact that the U.S. Government did not look upon the VTFS as a "definitive" work on Vietnam and that the paper should qualify its conception of the importance of the VTFS, otherwise serious damage could result to the U.S. [redacted] agreed to relay the message to [redacted]

Dr. Gelb stated that shortly prior to 6/13/71 he received a telephone call from [redacted]. During this call, which lasted approximately 20 minutes or a half hour, [redacted] told Gelb that [redacted] had relayed his message.

Bureau notes that in the previous interview of [redacted] by the New York Office on 7/26/71, [redacted] furnished details concerning his contact with Neil Sheehan and [redacted] of "The New York Times" prior to the publication of the "McNamara study" also known as the VTFS. However, in his comments [redacted] did not mention the fact that he had intervened with Dr. Gelb on behalf of [redacted]. It is noted further that during his interview, [redacted] refused to furnish the name of the individual who had furnished him information concerning the possession of the "McNamara study" by "The New York Times." It will be noted in this connection that a Departmental Attorney advised that [redacted] source was [redacted] has been interviewed in this matter.

New York should promptly interview [REDACTED] and obtain from him all details concerning his actions in acting as an intermediary for [REDACTED] with Dr. Gelb prior to the publication by "The New York Times" of portions of the VTFS. During the interview all avenues opened up by [REDACTED] concerning his contact with Gelb, Sheehan and [REDACTED] or any other individuals in connection with the VTFS during the pertinent period, should be fully explored. Submit results by summary teletype followed by inclusion of FD-302 in a report.

NOTE:

As noted above, [REDACTED] actions in regard to his contacts with personnel of "The New York Times" prior to the publication of the VTFS by that paper were first brought to attention by a recent interview of Dr. Gelb. TO THE PRESS

To summarize, for information, recent developments in our continuing investigations of alleged leaks of classified data to the press.

MC LEK (Daniel Ellsberg): On the evening of 11/17/71 Daniel Ellsberg spoke at Lowell Hall at Harvard University in a speech sponsored by two Harvard student publications. Ellsberg called on his audience to change their thinking and learn the power of telling the truth which their elders have apparently lost. He was critical of the rôle played in the Vietnam War by older Harvard graduates, including former President John F. Kennedy, Secretary Robert McNamara, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and current Presidential Aide Henry Kissinger.

During his speech Ellsberg exhibited a copy of the "Pentagon papers," presently being printed and sold by the U.S. Government for $50 a set. Referring to this price, Ellsberg noted that it was "cheaper than Xeroxing." In further comment on the reproduction of these documents, Ellsberg said that he had gone to a city where the cost of reproduction was ten cents a page. After indicating he had about 7,000 pages to copy, he was told the rate would be nine cents a page. He said he then went to Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he learned that discounts were given for quantity Xerox work. Concerning reproduction costs, Ellsberg also stated "I don't think at the old rate (nine cents) 'The Boston Globe' would have gotten its copy." Ellsberg did not specifically identify the city where he copied these documents but noted that the location where the cost was ten cents per page for reproduction was not a city where he has been indicted in connection with this matter. To date, Los Angeles is the only city in which Ellsberg is under indictment in connection with this case, and investigation and testimony of knowledgeable witnesses have positively identified Ellsberg as reproducing classified documents in the Los Angeles area on a number of occasions during the Fall of 1969.

Ellsberg also remarked that while awaiting the Supreme Court decision as to whether "The New York Times" could continue its publication of articles based on the "Pentagon papers," he met with a television executive in Cambridge in an effort to interest the television networks in publicizing these documents. This executive, not otherwise identified, asked for current material noting that what had been published concerning the Vietnam War as a result of the disclosure of the "Pentagon papers" was old.

[REDACTED]

On 11/17/71 [REDACTED] was interviewed at Washington, D.C.,

Vietnam from 1963 to 1966, during which period he met Daniel Ellsberg, Neil and Susan Sheehan [REDACTED]. Neil Sheehan is a Washington, D.C. based reporter for "The New York Times," and he and his wife were in the Boston area in 3/71, at which time they reproduced large quantities of documents, some of which have since been identified as being from the "Pentagon papers." [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] was present with Ellsberg in 10/69 when the latter was engaged in reproducing classified documents in the Los Angeles area. Fingerprints of [REDACTED] have been discovered on portions of the "Pentagon papers" maintained by the Rand Corporation in Santa Monica, California.

[REDACTED] furnished no information pertinent to this investigation based on his association with Ellsberg, the Sheehans [REDACTED], and indicated he had not been acquainted with Russo until early 11/71. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] During conversation with Russo, [REDACTED] said Russo remarked that Neil Sheehan had been guilty of a big double cross and [REDACTED] believed this referred to the timing of the publication of the "Pentagon papers" articles by "The New York Times."

Dear Mr. Butterfield:

Enclosed herewith is a memorandum of this Bureau dated November 19, 1971, which incorporates information obtained during the course of our continuing investigation of the leak of classified information to "The New York Times" by Daniel Ellsberg.

Information in the enclosed memorandum reveals that Anthony J. Russo, Jr., has been identified during our investigation as assisting Ellsberg in duplicating classified documents available to the latter during the course of his employment at the Rand Corporation in Santa Monica, California. The memorandum also notes that [redacted] became casually acquainted with Russo.

[redacted] She has had occasional contact with Russo since that time.

[redacted] During an interview of [redacted], she noted that she shared the same attitude as Russo relative to the Vietnam war.

[redacted]

The information in the [redacted] 65-770-0-2508
being furnished to the Attorney General. REC-12

Anthony Joseph Russo, Jr., a former Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, California, employee, has been identified as one of the individuals who assisted Daniel Ellsberg in copying highly classified documents, relating to the Vietnam war, in Los Angeles, California, in October, 1969. Ellsberg has publicly stated he was responsible for furnishing the "Pentagon papers" to the American press.

[REDACTED]

On November 17, 1971, [REDACTED] was interviewed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

[REDACTED]

r stated that [REDACTED] became acquainted with Russo [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

SEE NOTE PAGE THREE

[REDACTED] recalled that [REDACTED] remarked to Russo that she thought Ellsberg made a serious mistake in releasing the "Pentagon papers" and asked if benefits of publication were worth the compromise of security involved. Russo replied that the public had a right to know how the Government was "conning them."

On November 17, 1971, [REDACTED]

Washington, D. C., was interviewed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. She advised she had met Russo [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] She described Russo as feeling sorry for the Vietnamese people and a "bleeding heart." She assumed that Russo was a "dove" regarding his attitude towards United States involvement in Vietnam. She stated that she shared the same attitude and is basically opposed to the war.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] stated further that she met Russo about three times in all [REDACTED]. She never kept company with him and is not acquainted with any of his close friends. [REDACTED] described Russo as a naive, 35-year-old "hippie." She denied that she has ever discussed with him his association with Daniel Ellsberg or the publication of the "Pentagon papers."

[REDACTED] could furnish no information of substantive value concerning the dissemination by Ellsberg of classified information to the press but did acknowledge she met Ellsberg on several occasions [REDACTED]

LEAKS OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION
TO THE PRESS

To summarize, for information, recent developments in our continuing investigation of alleged leaks of classified data to the press.

MC LEX (Daniel Ellsberg): Earlier investigation of Ellsberg's trips between Washington, D.C., and Santa Monica, California, while employed by Rand Corporation, revealed he acted as a courier carrying volumes of the "McNamara Study" on two occasions and, on one such trip in early 3/69 stopped over in Denver, Colorado, for several days. Other investigation revealed that one of Ellsberg's acquaintances in [REDACTED] was [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] was interviewed 10/16/71 and gave innocuous information regarding his association with Ellsberg and admitted no activity of any pertinence to this investigation. On reinterview yesterday [REDACTED] admitted he had lied during the previous interview saying he was "afraid of damaging Ellsberg's character." [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] no mention was made of any plans for the disclosure of classified information.

[REDACTED] has been previously questioned by a Federal Grand Jury at Los Angeles in this matter but was uncooperative. He had disclosed earlier in an interview by news media that he was aware of Ellsberg's intent to disclose classified information in this matter approximately one year before the actual disclosures appeared in "The New York Times." The Spring of 1969 would have encompassed one of Ellsberg's courier trips from Washington, D.C., to Santa Monica, it being noted that Ellsberg transported ten volumes of the "McNamara Study" from Washington, D.C. to California on 3/3/69.

Instructions are being issued to Dallas to reinterview [redacted] vigorously in attempt to pin down any activity by Ellsberg of pertinence to this investigation which may have taken place during Ellsberg's visit to Denver in the Spring of 1969.

Assistant U.S. Attorney David R. Nissen, Departmental Attorney in charge of the prosecution of Ellsberg, advised Los Angeles Office yesterday that he would travel to Boston 12/1/71 in furtherance of reconvening the Federal Grand Jury investigating this matter in that city. He noted that he had filed a motion with the First Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston to reconvene the Grand Jury to hear testimony by Idolla Marx in furtherance of the court order which instructed that she testify before the Grand Jury. Nissen noted that a copy of his motion to reconvene the Grand Jury has been given to Senator Mike Gravel who has stated he has no objection inasmuch as, in Gravel's opinion, "Mrs. Marx knows nothing." It will be recalled the Federal Grand Jury at Boston has been prevented from hearing information in this matter as a result of motion by Gravel that continued Grand Jury inquiry in the leak of the "Pentagon papers" would infringe on his congressional immunity. Gravel has insisted that the Grand Jury be allowed to continue only if he is provided with identity of witnesses to appear as well as nature of questions that will be posed to such witnesses. A newspaper account noted that the Appellate Court in Boston ruled last night that the Justice Department may resume its Grand Jury investigation but placed restrictions on the scope of the probe. The restrictions included exclusion of appearance of Gravel's staff aide Leonard S. Rodberg and banned any Grand Jury questioning of other witnesses so far as those questions related to acquisition, use, or publication of the "Pentagon papers" by Gravel or members of his staff.

In the course of our continuing investigation of the leak of classified information to the "New York Times" by Daniel Ellsberg, we developed information linking [REDACTED] with Anthony J. Russo, Jr., who was identified during our investigations as assisting Ellsberg in duplicating classified documents. Information was developed that [REDACTED] became casually acquainted with Russo.

[REDACTED]
She has had occasional contact with Russo since that time [REDACTED]

During an interview of [REDACTED], she noted that she shared the same attitude as Russo relative to the Vietnam war.

Dear Mr. Krogh:

Enclosed is a summary covering this Bureau's investigation during the past week relating to Daniel Ellsberg and the publication of material concerning the United States-Vietnam relations during the period 1945-1967.

The summary also covers this Bureau's investigation during the past week relating to the recent unauthorized disclosure involving the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.

We are continuing these investigations, and you will be furnished further results obtained.

Single copies of the enclosure are also being sent to the Honorable H. R. Haldeman, Assistant to the President, and to the Attorney General.

Sincerely yours,

Prior investigation of activities of Ellsberg developed Ellsberg was in Ann Arbor, Michigan, for two-day period in early February, 1971, purpose of trip originally unknown. Referenced Detroit teletype reported results of interview of [redacted] who advised Ellsberg's trip to Ann Arbor was related to "Peoples Peace Treaty." Detroit indicated Ellsberg's participation with respect to this matter has been reported; however, communication reporting this matter cannot be located in Bufiles. The "Peoples Peace Treaty" was the creation of the National Student Association which, after representatives of this group traveled to Hanoi, prepared document calling for immediate United States withdrawal from Southeast Asia, which document was to be nationally circulated for signatures.

On October 29, 1971, [REDACTED] the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) furnished the following information:

At approximately 4:30 p.m., on either June 23 or 24, 1971, he received a phone call at his office, [REDACTED] New York City, in which the caller offered him 1,000 pages of "Fresh" material from the Pentagon Papers. He explained he knew the exact time and date because he received an inquiry concerning that call approximately ten days ago from a reporter named [REDACTED] (phonetic) from the Washington Post.

Along with that offer, the caller identified himself as Mr. GOLD. He wanted a guarantee in advance that once he furnished the material, [REDACTED] would then be obligated to broadcast that information in those papers. [REDACTED] stated he was aware of the fact that the Justice Department had already obtained a Federal injunction on three newspapers, New York Times, Washington Post, and a Boston paper, restraining them from publishing any information from the classified Pentagon Papers. As a result, he advised GOLD he would have to clear this with ABC attorneys. GOLD agreed and stated he would call back within an hour. During that hour, the attorneys advised him that in view of the outstanding Federal injunction against the newspapers, they felt the firm could be held in contempt if they used that material and they advised him to decline GOLD's offer. [REDACTED] then alerted the ABC switchboard operator and asked her to attempt to determine from what city GOLD was calling. In view of the new dial system, she was unable to determine if it was a local or long distance call.

When GOLD called, he was advised of the attorneys' decision and GOLD thanked him and then hang up.

[REDACTED] then added the following comments concerning the above offer: At no time did the caller ask for any money and it appeared he was primarily interested in getting nationwide dissemination of the material. He also noted the caller at one point indicated that he had also been in contact with CBS and NBC with the same offer.

[REDACTED] also stated that during the call he felt he was actually talking to DANIEL ELLSBERG since the caller had the same speech inflections as ELLSBERG, but, of course, he could never be certain that it was ELLSBERG.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] remarked they arrived in Cambridge, Massachusetts, the same day and, since [REDACTED] was unable to have him as an overnight guest in his home, [REDACTED] made a reservation for him at the Continental Hotel in Cambridge. He stated he checked into the Continental Hotel sometime between 7:30 - 8:00 p.m. on March 21, 1971, and remained in his room for the remainder of the night. He commented he checked out of the hotel before 9:00 a.m., the next day.

[REDACTED] stated that during the evening hours of March 21, 1971, he heard no unusual sounds or traffic in the hallway nor observed any suspicious acting person at the hotel when he arrived and departed.

Photographs of CORNELIUS and SUSAN SHEEHAN and DANIEL ELLSBERG were displayed to [REDACTED] and he advised he does not know these individuals by name and had not observed them during his overnight stay at the Continental Hotel.

[REDACTED] denied any knowledge concerning ANTHONY RUSSO, and could not recall a telephone conversation with a Mr. RUSSO from Los Angeles, California, during the month of August, 1971, and specifically the third of that month. After reviewing his calendar, he explained he could not ascertain from his notes any information relating to a conversation with RUSSO.

[REDACTED]

He concluded by stating he is not acquainted with DANIEL ELLSBERG, although he is aware of the publicity surrounding him due to the publication of the Pentagon Papers.

NOTE:

Ellsberg appeared at the Los Angeles Sports Arena at a "Set the Date" rally on 11/12/71. By referenced communication, Los Angeles submitted copies of a college publication setting forth Ellsberg's speech. It was noted by Los Angeles that the text of the speech apparently was furnished to the newspaper prior to Ellsberg's speech and the actual speech had slight variations from the text submitted to the newspaper. Los Angeles noted further that a transcript was to be provided to the Bureau. Instant communication will expedite Los Angeles' submission of the speech.

To advise of filing of suit by Avram Noam Chomsky against the Attorney General, the Director and the New England Telephone Company, alleging illegal wiretapping. Boston is in process of submitting papers connected with suit.

Inquiry at the Clerk's Office, United States District Court (USDC), Boston, Massachusetts, on 11/30/71 determined that on 11/29/71, Attorneys Leonard Boudin and Charles R. Nesson, representing Avram Noam Chomsky, filed a suit with the USDC on behalf of Chomsky, naming the Attorney General, the Director of the FBI, and the New England Telephone Company as defendants. Chomsky is a professor of linguistics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and has previously been identified as a close friend and associate of Daniel Ellsberg. Investigation of Ellsberg indicates strong possibility Chomsky assisted Ellsberg in disseminating copies of the "Pentagon papers" to the press. During October, 1971, Chomsky was subpoenaed to appear before a Federal Grand Jury sitting in Boston hearing testimony concerning the Ellsberg matter. On 10/29/71, a motion was filed in USDC, Boston to quash Chomsky's appearance before the Federal Grand Jury, following which a Federal Judge instructed Government attorneys to furnish statement regarding possible illegal electronic surveillance of Chomsky, prior to rendering decision regarding Chomsky's appearance before the Federal Grand Jury.

It is noted Leonard Boudin and Charles R. Nesson are also attorneys of record for Daniel Ellsberg.

The present suit of Chomsky states that he is seeking civil redress under the First (freedom of religion, speech, press and assembly), the Fourth (right against unreasonable searches and seizures), and the Sixth (right to a jury trial) Amendments to the United States Constitution. Chomsky cites Title 18, United States Code, Sections 2510-2520 (pertaining to recovery of civil damages in wiretap cases), and Title 47,

RE: MC LEK

United States Code, Section 605 (pertaining to the prohibition against unauthorized publication or use of communications). Chomsky claims that he was the subject of an illegal wiretap either on his telephone, that of his office or on approximately 25 other telephone numbers, including the telephone numbers of "Resist," the Cambridge Institute, Boston Draft Resisters, the Institute of Policy Studies, or those of Boudin and Nesson. The organizations named are antidraft, antiwar or connected with the New Left. Chomsky has filed a request for discovery pursuant to Rule 34 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. Interrogato included are those to be answered under oath by the Attorney General and the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. We advised the Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division 9/27/71 that our records revealed that Chomsky was not the subject of direct electronic coverage, was not overheard by any electronic monitoring and was not known to have had a proprietar interest in any premises on which any such surveillances were conducted.

The Boston Office is obtaining copies of papers filed in Chomsky's suit and submitting same to Bureau. Upon receipt, these will be analyzed and recommendations made.

OF THE SENATOR'S HANDLING OF THE COPY OF THE PENTAGON PAPERS THAT HE HAD AT ANY TIME PRIOR TO, DURING OR AFTER HIS READING OF THAT MATERIAL INTO THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD VIA HIS SUBCOMMITTEE. THE GOVERNMENT ACCORDING TO NISSEN HAS COUNTERED THAT IT HAS THE RIGHT TO INTERROGATE ANYONE OTHER THAN THE SENATOR AND THAT THE SENATOR IS IMMUNE ONLY CONCERNING THAT PERIOD WHEN HE RECEIVED THE PAPERS AND UP TO AND INCLUDING THE TIME HE READ THEIR CONTENTS INTO THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD. THE ORDER OF NOVEMBER TWENTYNINE LAST BY THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS WAS BASED ON A MOTION SUBMITTED BY WARREN REESE FROM LOS ANGELES WHO MOVED, THAT THERE WOULD BE NO INQUIRY INTO ANY ACTIVITIES OF THE SENATOR, HIS STAFF, AIDS, ET CETERA UNTIL THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS MADE ITS DECISION. THE RESTRAINING ORDER OF OCTOBER TWENTYNINE LAST WAS THUS AMENDED TO ALLOW THE FEDERAL GRAND JURY TO MEET AT BOSTON TO HEAR MRS. To obtain authority for Boston Office to interview [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] and for WFO to interview [REDACTED], all of the "Boston Globe," regarding their knowledge of Daniel Ellsberg and how the "Boston Globe" obtained the "Pentagon papers."

The "Boston Globe" was one of a number of U.S. newspapers which printed articles based on the "Pentagon papers" following the initial article by "The New York Times" on 6/13/71. Details concerning the manner in which these newspapers obtained their portions of the "Pentagon papers" continue to be unknown. Investigation has determined that this material was furnished to representatives of various newspapers in the Boston area and the "Boston Globe" has publicly stated it obtained its portion of the documents on the grounds of Harvard University on 6/21/71. We have not developed information concerning from whom the "Boston Globe" obtained this material. Boston has identified / persons associated with the "Boston Globe" who would possibly be in a position to furnish the desired information, however, has made no positive recommendations since that office felt any interviews would be unproductive. WFO has recommended that [REDACTED] of the above newspaper, be interviewed.

[REDACTED] on the staff of the "Boston Globe" in Boston, is one of three employees of that newspaper personally acquainted with Ellsberg who allegedly knew Ellsberg was in

To summarize, for information, recent developments our continuing investigation of alleged leaks of classified data to the press.

MC LEK (Daniel Ellsberg): Previously, Mrs. Idella Marx, Daniel Ellsberg's mother-in-Law, appeared before a Fed Grand Jury (FGJ) in Boston on 10/13/71 and after receiving immunity refused to testify and was subsequently held in contempt of court. Commitment was stayed, however, and Mrs. Marx was released on bond pending an appeal. Through her attorney she later agreed to testify before the FGJ rather than face a jail sentence for contempt of court.

On 12/2/71 Mrs. Marx testified before the FGJ at Boston. According to Departmental Attorney David R. Nissen, Mrs. Marx was most uncooperative in her appearance before the A reappearance before the FGJ for Mrs. Marx was scheduled for 12/14/71. RE: LEAKS OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION

In an effort to determine whether the Rand Corporation, where Ellsberg was formerly employed, had any U.S. Government ownership or direction, [REDACTED] Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, was contacted on 12/2/71. According to [REDACTED] the Rand Corporation was incorporated as a non-stock, non-profit organization. [REDACTED] Rand is entirely privately owned with no Government participation in either ownership or on the Board of Directors.

[REDACTED] the idea of the "Project Rand" contract was originally conceived by General Hap Arnold, U.S. Air Force, who foresaw the need for scientific support for military planning. Prior to 1948, the "Project Rand" concept utilized facilities of Douglas Aircraft, Los Angeles, California and drew on research experts from Douglas and other aerospace firms in the area. Due to a possible conflict of interest thru the use of Douglas facilities, it was decided the project should become completely independent and in 11/48 the Rand Corporation incorporated utilizing a million dollar interest free loan received from the Ford Foundation. The loan was later changed to a straight million dollar grant from the Ford Foundation with the stipulation that if the corporation should dissolve, all assets belonging to the corporation would revert to the Ford Foundation. [REDACTED] noted that the Department of Defense and the U.S. Air Force contested this stipulation with negative results. He added that all profits earned by Rand Corporation are put back into the corporation for additional research purposes and the charter stipulates that Rand research should be directed toward public interest.

ACTION:

1. For information.
2. Investigations of leaks of classified information to the press continue to receive intensive investigative attention and you will be advised of pertinent developments.
3. Pertinent portions of data herein will be included in a weekly summary to The White House, Attorney General and his Deputy, as well as Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division.

To summarize, for information, recent developments in our continuing investigation of alleged leaks of classified data to the press.

MC LEX (Daniel Ellsberg): Inquiry at the Clerk's Office, U.S. District Court (USDC), Boston, yesterday revealed attorneys Leonard Soudin and Charles R. Nelson, representing Avram Noah Chomsky, had filed a suit on behalf of Chomsky against the Attorney General, the Director of the FBI and the New England Telephone Company, alleging Chomsky has been the subject of an illegal wiretap. Chomsky, a linguistics professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has previously been identified as a close friend and associate of Daniel Ellsberg and investigation indicates strong possibility Chomsky assisted Ellsberg in disseminating copies of the "Pentagon papers" to the press. Details of Chomsky's suit are being set forth in separate memorandum.

Records of the Clerk's Office, U.S. Court of Appeals, First District, Boston, yesterday revealed that a memorandum and order was entered by Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich, bearing on the restraint previously imposed on the Federal Grand Jury (FGJ) by this appellate court on 10/29/71. According to this order, the FGJ may now pursue its inquiry into crimes relating to the "Pentagon papers" providing that neither Senator Mike Gravel nor any member of his staff or the staff of the Subcommittee on Buildings and Grounds shall be subpoenaed to testify and that no witness shall be questioned concerning the acquisition, use, publication, or republication of the "Pentagon papers" by Senator Gravel or any member of his staff until further order by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

It is noted Senator Mike Gravel of Alaska convened a meeting of the Senate Subcommittee on Buildings and Grounds on the night of 6/29/71 during which he read documents described by him as consisting of the "Pentagon papers." Gravel later was identified as having made a copy of the "Pentagon papers" available to the Beacon Press of Boston, which has published a four-volume set of books containing these documents. On 10/20/71 the U.S. Court of Appeals, Boston, ordered no further Grand Jury investigation be conducted at Boston concerning the "Pentagon papers" pending determination of questions raised in a suit filed by Senator Gravel to the effect that FGJ hearings violate his legislative immunity.

It will be recalled that Mrs. Idella Ruth Marx, Daniel Ellsberg's mother-in-law, appeared before the FGJ in Boston 10/13/71 and after receiving immunity refused to testify and was subsequently held in contempt of court. Commitment was stayed, however, and Mrs. Marx was released on bond pending appeal. Yesterday, according to a news account, an attorney for Mrs. Marx advised she has now agreed to testify before the FGJ rather than face a definite jail sentence for contempt of court.

ACTION:

2. Investigations of leaks of classified information to the press continue to receive intensive investigative attention and you will be advised of pertinent developments.
3. Pertinent portions of data herein will be included in a weekly summary to The White House, Attorney General and his Deputy, as well as Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division.

Referenced airtels relate to sequence of events of the unauthorized disclosure of the Pentagon Papers and the connection between ELLSBERG and IPS.

In the absence of cooperative witnesses or physical evidence it is only possible to speculate on what actually occurred or what alliances were entered into between ELLSBERG and others who assisted him in the distribution of the McNamara Study to the news media. Qualified as such, Los Angeles suggests the following may have occurred.

REC-3

10 DEC 3 1971

55 DEC 13 1971
Approved: _____ Sent: _____ M Per: _____ SPEC. OFFICE

Special Agent in Charge

LA 105-27952

1. ELLSBERG acted independently in reaching his decision to copy the Rand documents in his possession and his purpose was to make these documents available to the Fulbright Committee.

It is not felt that ELLSBERG had formed any alliance with others at this time (October 1969) as he apparently lacked counsel, acting extremely indiscreet in his choice of associates at the xeroxing sessions at the Sinay-Longino Advertising firm. It was stupid to have involved his children and such questionable and unreliable individuals as ROSENBERG, SINAY and RUSSO.

2. ELLSBERG made only one or at the most, two copies of the Rand documents in Los Angeles during October 1969.

3. ELLSBERG gave Senator FULBRIGHT one copy of the documents, which FULBRIGHT has retained.

Prior to delivering the documents to Senator FULBRIGHT, ELLSBERG while in Washington, D.C. may have contacted IPS who could have made one or two additional copies of the documents, keeping one for themselves and providing ELLSBERG with a spare set. This is compatible with IPS statements as set forth in referenced WFO airtel that IPS was in possession of the Pentagon Study in the fall of 1969.

4. ELLSBERG either had only one set of the Pentagon Papers in his possession in March 1971 or had temporary loan of a set, perhaps from IPS.

This is borne out by the frenzied and risk-taking activity by the SHEEHANS in using commercial firms in the Boston area in duplicating the documents. Had ELLSBERG spare sets he could have provided SHEEHAN with a copy and SHEEHAN in complete safety using the facilities of the "New York Times" made all the copies he wanted.

LA 105-27952

If ELLSBERG had a borrowed set that had to be returned, this could be the reason for SHEEHAN's urgency. The "Times" did not publish until 6/13/71. Further, ELLSBERG was departing on vacation to the Caribbean and had it been ELLSBERG's own set, SHEEHAN could have copied the documents at his leisure in a secure location.

It is to be noted that [REDACTED] was in Cambridge at the Hotel Continental at the same time SUSAN SHEEHAN was there, 3/21-23/71.

5. ELLSBERG independently decided to make the documents available to the "New York Times" as he had given up on any Congressional action.

Los Angeles does not believe that this was a joint decision of IPS and ELLSBERG in order to let the news media take the "legal heat" in publishing the Top Secret documents so that IPS could later publish its book in safety. Had this been the case, IPS using its own xerox facilities, could have made copies of the documents and provided SHEEHAN a copy in complete safety and privacy.

6. ELLSBERG and the "Times" had reached some sort of agreement on date of publishing documents in order to allow ELLSBERG to continue his efforts to get a liberal Congressman interested in the documents.

In May 1971 ELLSBERG was in contact with Congressman PAUL McCLOSKEY of California relative to the documents, this subsequent to releasing the documents to SHEEHAN. Both ELLSBERG and RUSSO have stated that the "Times" double-crossed them in the premature news release of the documents. It has been speculated that the "Times" was afraid that McCLOSKEY would "scoop" them.

7. After the "Times" published in June 1971 and a court injunction stayed publication after 3 days, ELLSBERG deciding the die was cast, made an independent decision to provide other news media with the documents.

LA 105-27952

It is doubtful that the "Times" would have assisted ELLSBERG in this action as the "Times" had an exclusive and had put a lot of time and money in the project.

If ELLSBERG had only one copy, or limited copies of the documents at that time, he must have been presented with a dilemma as to how to get additional copies made rapidly. Due to the publicity attendant to the "Times" exposé, it would be extremely risky to use commercial facilities.

8. ELLSBERG turned to "think alikes" in the Cambridge area for assistance. In this case it was most likely [REDACTED] and [REDACTED].

All had copying facilities available to them - at the Cambridge Institute; [REDACTED] at Harvard and [REDACTED] at his office or at Harvard. In addition, it is most likely that at least [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] had prior knowledge of ELLSBERG's possession of the documents and/or his intentions.

9. IPS, Washington, D.C., was not directly involved in the distribution of the documents to the news media.

Were this the case, IPS, WDC, using its own facilities, could have made all copies necessary and provided these to the Washington bureau staffs of the involved newspapers. Instead, these staffs were contacted telephonically and told to come to the Boston area to receive their copies. This, despite the possibility of further incriminating ELLSBERG.

10. Senator GRAVEL of Alaska most likely received a copy of the documents from [REDACTED] of IPS, WDC, or was assisted by [REDACTED] and/or the IPS in making copies of the Senate's copy of the documents as provided by the Department of Defense.

[REDACTED] may have been acting independently of IPS in assisting Senator GRAVEL as [REDACTED] acting in behalf of GRAVEL made the documents available to the "Beacon Press" in Boston.

LA 105-27952

It would seem that the "Beacon Press" publication of a book on the subject would be in competition with IPS' similar book "Washington Plans on Aggressive War" (WPAW).

11. The assistance that ELLSBERG received could have been limited to a relatively small number of people, namely [REDACTED] and a few trusted youths known to the above.

Working together and with modern copying facilities this group could have performed the copying activities in the time allotted. The distribution to the news media was simple enough - calls to the Washington staffs with instructions of where the material could be picked up, which did not require a large number of persons to be involved. Further, due to the prominence of these individuals and perhaps with more common sense than ELLSBERG exhibited earlier, it is unlikely that they would wish to involve any more persons than necessary in their activity.

Los Angeles believes this investigation is proceeding in an orderly and successful fashion. To substantiate the speculations set out above will require information from a source having first-hand knowledge. At present it would appear such a source would be an individual closely associated with ELLSBERG or a member of the press.

The possibility always exists that continuing investigative pressure exerted on the individuals involved may cause personal conflict among these individuals which would lead one to come forth with the necessary information to incriminate the others. RUSSO is an unstable person and ELLSBERG's indiscreet public statements may incur the wrath of others involved.

Honorable Senator Mathias:

I protest the action of the FBI in investigating the records of the Unitarian-Universalist Association in connection with the Beacon Publishing Company's publishing of the Pentagon Papers. When are we going to stop these Gestapo - like techniques in the land of the Free.

The Cannikin Atomic Test must also be stopped. Please bring the power of your office to bear on these two major issues.

Sincerely,

REC-51

Act 74-60-2601
Honorable Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.
United States Senate
Washington, D. C. 20510

My dear Senator:

I have received your communication of November 24, 1971, with which you forwarded a copy of a letter dated November 5, 1971, directed to you by [REDACTED] together with a copy of a telegram sent to you dated November 10, 1971, by [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. These two communications protested investigation by the FBI of the records of the Unitarian-Universalist Association. [REDACTED]

As you are aware, this Bureau, at the specific request of the Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division, United States Department of Justice, is conducting intensive investigation into the unauthorized disclosure of the "Pentagon papers." On October 28, 1971, a subpoena was issued by the Federal Grand Jury, Boston, Massachusetts, to obtain bank records of the Unitarian-Universalist Association and its affiliate, Beacon Press, which published Senator Gravel's edition of "The Pentagon Papers."

Pursuant to a request by attorneys for the United States Department of Justice, two Special Agents of this Bureau assisted bank personnel in a review of their records to expedite selection of items most responsive to the subpoena and to eliminate documents with no relevancy. These Agents did not make any notes regarding the bank records and did not prepare reports based on their review.

It is considered that the actions of this Bureau in the above matter have been entirely proper and were performed in response to a specific request by attorneys of the United States Department of Justice.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

ANTHONY J. RUSSO, JR., IN CALIFORNIA

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 11/22/711

[REDACTED]
New York City, advised that she does know ANTHONY RUSSO, having met him through mutual friends about one and one-half to two years ago. She noted that they do see each other when he visits New York City. She could not recall receiving a telephone call from him during March, 1971 and, therefore, could furnish no details concerning this call. She noted that she has met DANIEL ELLSBERG through introduction to him by RUSSO. She advised that she knows nothing whatever concerning the activities of RUSSO and ELLSBERG in connection with the "Pentagon Papers" other than what she has read in the newspapers. She noted that she has not discussed this matter with either RUSSO or ELLSBERG, and that in this regard she considered them both to be "beautiful people" and, further, that she is in accord with the actions that they had taken in connection with these papers.

AND HIS WIFE, SUSAN SHEEHAN

NY 65-25641

The following investigation was conducted in connection with CORNELIUS MAHONEY SHEEHAN and his wife, SUSAN SHEEHAN:

On October 12, 1971, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] advised [REDACTED] that as of November 13, 1968, her records indicate that CORNELIUS M. SHEEHAN and his wife, SUSAN, nee BLACK, were residing at 4505 Kling Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C. It was indicated they had formerly resided at 1701 K Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C., and at 15 Han Tuyen, Saigon, Vietnam. As of 1968, Mr. SHEEHAN was noted as being employed as a correspondent for "The New York Times". As of that date, his wife, SUSAN, was indicated as being employed by the "New Yorker" Magazine, 25 West 43rd Street, New York City, as a writer.

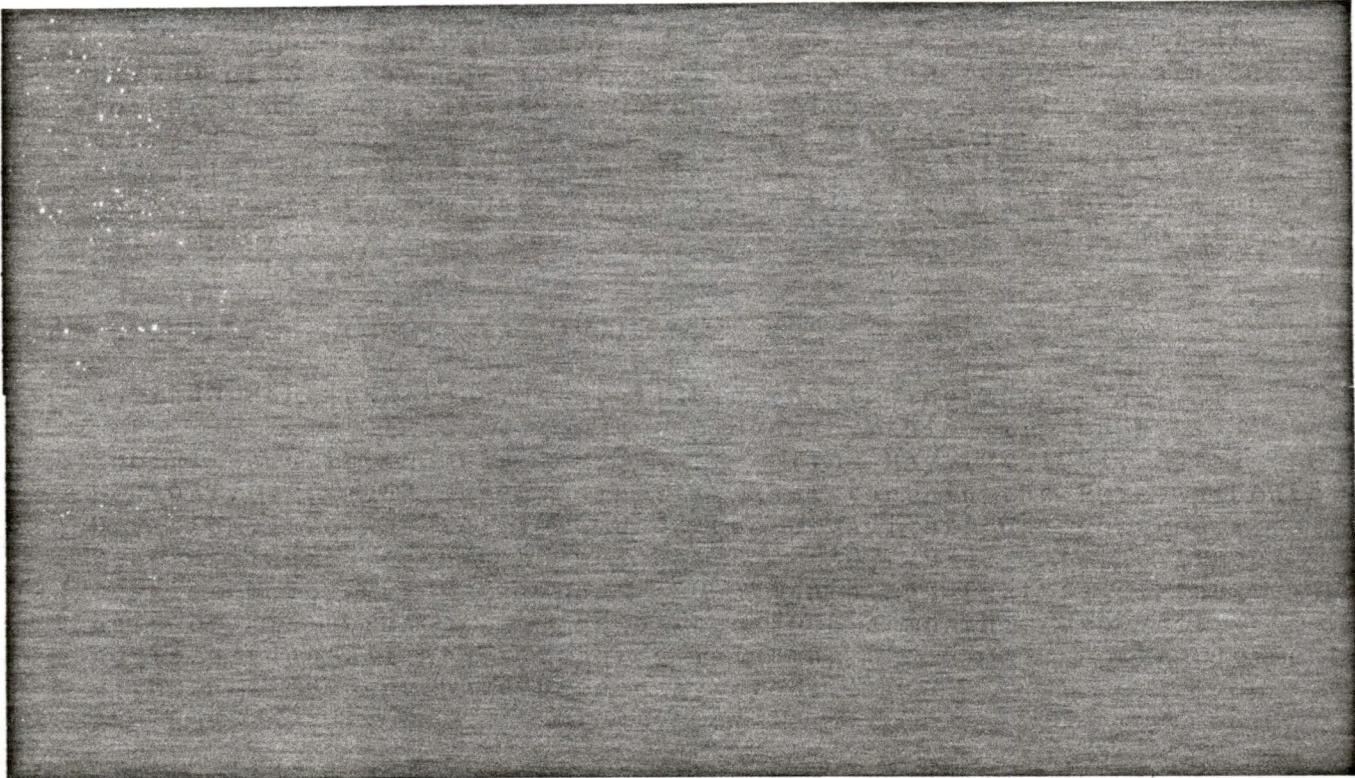

On October 7, 1971, [REDACTED] Records Administration and Information Section, Immigration and Naturalization Service, 20 West Broadway, New York, New York, advised [REDACTED] that he could locate no record for SUSAN SHEEHAN, nee SACHSEL, also known as Mrs. SUSAN REVER BLACK and SUSAN MARGULIES, who was born August 24, 1937, in Vienna, Austria.

NY 65-25641

Concerning SUSAN M. SHEEHAN, nee BLACK, prior investigation has established that she married FORREST REVER BLACK on September 12, 1959, and was divorced from him on March 26, 1960.

On October 13, 1971, [REDACTED] caused the records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, New York County, to be checked for a marriage record relating to the above-captioned marriage with negative results.

On October 15, 1971, [REDACTED] caused the records of the New York County Court to be checked concerning a record for divorce on March 26, 1960, as indicated above, with negative results.

represents a number of lecturers. One of the people whom he represents is [REDACTED] of the "New York Times". In this connection he noted that he is seeking to groom a replacement for [REDACTED] and he has contacted [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. He identified [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] as also being associated with the "New York Times".

They recommended to him as an up and coming young journalist, NEIL SHEEHAN. He noted that NEIL SHEEHAN has served as a Vietnam correspondent for the "New York Times" and has a varied background as a newsman. On the basis of the recommendation made by the above mentioned individuals about the first part of August, 1971, he signed SHEEHAN to a contract as a lecturer. He noted SHEEHAN has not yet made any appearances and that he does not expect him to make any appearances until early in 1972.

[REDACTED] noted that SHEEHAN will not make public appearances as such but will be scheduled to speak before small private groups. [REDACTED] noted that he did not sign SHEEHAN because of his involvement with the "Pentagon Papers" which he, [REDACTED] believes is already a dead issue". [REDACTED] noted he signed SHEEHAN because he believes SHEEHAN has a bright future in journalism. He stated that he does not presently believe SHEEHAN is connected in the public's mind with the "Pentagon Papers" but that this could change if he received further publicity relative to his connection with their publication. [REDACTED] advised he has a contract bearing the signature of SHEEHAN but that he could not make this available or any other material he might have bearing SHEEHAN's handwriting without obtaining SHEEHAN's permission.

[REDACTED] made available a preliminary mimeographed circular concerning the association of SHEEHAN with his organization, setting forth lecture subjects on which SHEEHAN is prepared to speak, as well as some background information concerning SHEEHAN. The material in the circular was prepared in

NEIL SHEEHAN

Award-winning NEW YORK TIMES journalist whose investigative reporting was the basis for the publication of
THE PENTAGON PAPERS

WASHINGTON-BASED NEW YORK TIMES CORRESPONDENT SPECIALIZING IN POLITICAL, DIPLOMATIC AND MILITARY AFFAIRS

Former Vietnam correspondent, THE NEW YORK TIMES and UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

LECTURE SUBJECTS

THE PENTAGON PAPERS: What startling facts has their publication revealed about U.S. Foreign Policy and our own institutions? Has the Executive Branch of government become a state bureaucracy which now serves its own ends more than the needs of the Republic at large? How does this effect our domestic liberties? How does it effect the ability of Congress and the public to participate in the making of foreign policy? Does the President shape foreign policy?

HOW CAN A LASTING PEACE IN ASIA BE ACHIEVED?

Is Communism our principal enemy in Asia? No, says Mr. Sheehan, it is bad government, social injustice, disease, poverty, over-population and the exhaustion of man and the soil he tills. Should we try to force countries of other cultures to accept our way of life? From personal observation, Mr. Sheehan suggests solutions for the present problems and others which may come up in the future in Asia and elsewhere.

WHAT LESSONS ARE TO BE LEARNED FROM THE VIETNAM WAR?

How did we become involved? Have we committed war crimes in Vietnam? Past U.S. attitudes on war crimes compared with our current attitudes. Current problems facing military institutions as a result of the Vietnam war and the changes in attitudes within the services and in the public view towards them.

THE ROLE OF THE MILITARY-INDUSTRIAL-TECHNOLOGICAL COMPLEX

What are the effects of military spending on our society?

THE ROLE OF THE NEWS MEDIA IN OUR SOCIETY

Mr. Sheehan discusses the great need for an independent, tough-minded, critical press in the United States, feeling that the news media are not nearly critical enough of Government and other major institutions of our society and that the proper role of the press is that of a separate but equal protagonist - critical of both the institutions of our society and the youth culture that has developed beneath it.

About Neil Sheehan....

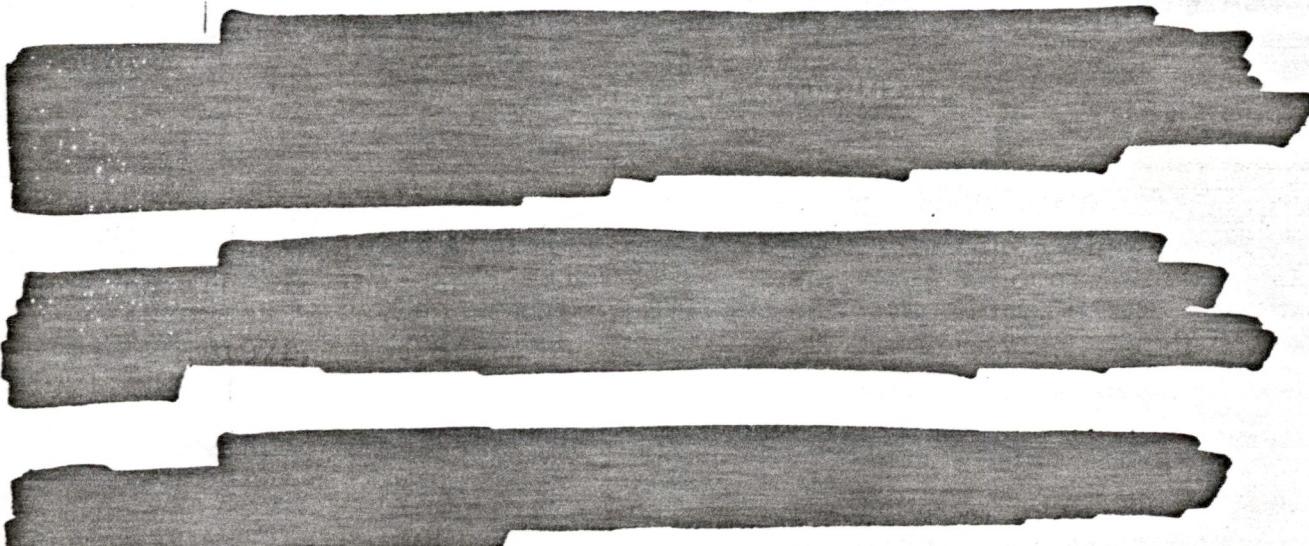

Neil Sheehan

Born in Holyoke, Massachusetts, in 1936, he graduated with honors in 1958 from Harvard College, where he was on the editorial board of the Harvard Advocate, the college literary magazine. From 1958 to 1962 he served with the U.S. Army in South Korea and Tokyo and in 1962 became Vietnam Bureau Chief for United Press. He joined the Times in 1964. JF/N For his Vietnam reporting he was awarded the 1964 Louis M. Lyons Memorial Award for Conscience and Integrity in Journalism, and the Silver Pa Medal Award of the Poor Richard Club of Philadelphia; also received the Overseas Press Club Certificate of Appreciation. [REDACTED] advised that he had been a guest at the Treadway Motor Inn, Cambridge, Massachusetts, on a couple of occasions over the past year. On all occasions he resided at the Treadway Motor Inn in connection with business at Harvard. It was his recollection that in March, 1971, he resided at the Treadway for one night in connection with a meeting of the Signet Society, a journalistic group.

He stated that he was not acquainted with DANIEL ELLSBERG, CORNELIUS MAHONEY SHEEHAN, also known as NEIL SHEEHAN, or his wife, SUSAN SHEEHAN and anyone named SAMUEL JOHNSON. After viewing photographs of ELLSBERG, NEIL and SUSAN SHEEHAN he confirmed his previous statement that he was not acquainted with them. During his stay at the Treadway he did not see, consult or confer with any of these persons, nor did he know anyone who did. As a journalist he recognized the names of DANIEL ELLSBERG and NEIL SHEEHAN, as the Washington reporter of "The New York Times".

He advised that he had no information concerning the release of the "Pentagon Papers" other than what was already public knowledge. He agreed with the reporting of the "Pentagon Papers", thought it was good journalism, and as a professional journalist praised the reporting. He stated that he had no information to contribute to the investigation, and if he were in possession of any information he would refuse to divulge anything because of his code of ethics as a professional journalist.
